SCIENCE

We were lucky to work with The School of Noise this week. The children had fun in the 'science of sound' workshops with lots of hands-on object-based play and experimentation. They conducted scientific experiments on how sound is made (vibration, frequency, amplitude), how it travels (medium, longitudinal/pressure waves), and where it ends up (reflection, absorption, hearing).

Our Year 5s had a blast at the Science Jamboree held at Discovery Park! They participated in three exciting hands-on workshops: creating and studying bubble textures, exploring the concept of mass, and getting up close with some fascinating creepy crawlies. The day was capped off with an engaging and entertaining science show about space. It was a fantastic opportunity for our young scientists to learn through fun and interactive experiences!
